Prices are for individual subscriptions. Individual subscriptions are for the use of the subscriber only, and may not be copied, re-transmitted, re-published or otherwise reproduced and/or delivered to any other person, within or outside the organization of the subscriber. No individual subscription may be placed on an intranet or otherwise be made available to others for downloading. Subscriber will not provide any officeinsight password to any one else except to enable an assistant to do what the subscriber is permitted to do personally.*

Site licenses are available to organizations allowing for re-distribution within the organization holding the site license. Prices (at a substantial discount from the individual subscription) are determined by negotiation based upon the expected number of readers. A "mini-site license" is available to small organizations (not more than 25 employees) with expected readership is less than five for an annual fee of US$500.

Individual and mini-site licenses do not entitle the subscriber(s) to access subscription portions of any officeinsight web site except for purposes of downloading the current issue.

Each person, by subscribing, agrees to these terms.
